Biography Tells Colorful Story Of Adventurer

NEW YORK.—"Mr. Catherwood also is missing."

In that single line, hastily tacked onto a list of shipwreck victims, the New York Herald in 1954 gave out the news that a man who had been caught up with a man who had been defying it for decades.

It was not much more than a paragraph for the strange, cold adventurer who time and again had risked his life to paint a picture, who had ventured in disguise into Mohammedan holy of holies, who had survived South America's first road, who had helped open to the ken of Americans the lost cities of the Mayas, Incas and Aztecs, and who had been a central American jungle.

There were two significant things in the sentence.

One was the missing "C" before his name. The other was the fact that his life, particularly fame and fortune, had been a mystery.

The second was the use of the term "Mr. Catherwood." For throughout his life, what he was called was "Frederick Catherwood, Architect."

It seems the first real attempt to show more than a wealth.

Catherwood was born in London, England, in 1799, attended a school where he learned Latin, Greek and Hebrew, was apprenticed to an architect when 16. He became a member of the "Keats circle," headed by the poet, then, when 22, went to Rome where he probably had a romantic interlude with a woman whose name was not given.

Then he went to Greece to study and sketch the ruins of her classic buildings, and dipped for the first time into adventure.

Greece was raving against the Turks and Catherwood was caught in Athens by a besieging Turkish army. He continued his artistic studies in the beleaguered city, making castings with his own hands, then escaped—how is not known.

Effected Escape
There he found a merry private war raging between a church and a man. He and a friend disguised themselves as Arabs and scurried into Egypt.

Egypt then was boiling as a center for archeological research. Giovanni Belzoni, a circus strong man who had turned archeologist, had discovered gold plated mummies "as thick as leaves." A number of wealthy Britons had gone to the country to record the wonders already uncovered and to look for new ones.

For the next nine years, Catherwood stayed in Egypt, with the exception of one trip north to assist in the study of the pyramids. He became part of a Nile expedition financed by the Hay.

a wealthy Englishman. Catherwood sketched from Nubia to Tunis. He was one of a group of engineers whom Mehmet Ali, the pasha of Egypt, hired to repair the mosques at Cairo, Egypt.

Scientists Hope to Grow Food From Some Chemicals

PAULO ALTO, CALIF.—Within two years, Stanford University scientists expect to be able to show hungry people how to use sunlight to produce nutritious food cheaply and in great quantities.

They have developed a method of controlling the process of photosynthesis by which plants use sunlight to convert water, carbon and a few other simple chemicals into food.

In charge of the project, thinks the researchers should have enough data soon to put the understanding on an industrial basis.

Now, scientists are starting their first small pilot plant. It is a futuristic looking collection of bare, white and shallow rectangular tanks atop the Stanford chemical engineering lab.

Into each tank the researchers have put about 100 gallons of water, minerals and a few minerals such as magnesium, iron and sulphur compounds.

A few hundred little green oiled plants, too small to be seen individually, will be dumped into the tanks. Small pumps will stir the water and add carbon dioxide occasionally. Sunlight will do the rest.

By 1850, some 58,997 settlers had ventured into this state from Georgia. At this same time North Carolina had contributed 48,663 inhabitants while Tennessee placed third with 22,541, and Virginia was fourth with 10,378.

Ten years later Georgia still led the field with 85,517 newly converted Alabamians claiming the "cracker state" as their firmer home.

About People and Things

By C. B. McDowell

Junior Policemen Given Banquet

Police officer Alvin Strickland and his efficient assistant, Phil English, and Mayor Mullins, the City Council and chief of police J. W. Parker, entertained the members of the Junior Police Department at a chicken and steak supper at Stephenson's Cafe Tuesday night. Those enjoying the feast were Mayor L. P. Mullins, City Clerk T. D. Kendrick, Councilman Ed Kendrick, Chief J. W. Parker, Alex Strickland, Phil English, C. B. McDowell and the six junior policemen, Captain Bert English, Owen Ziglar, Elliot Kendrick, Robert Newton, Harry Swain, and Jack Parker. Officer Strickland served as master of ceremonies.

Mayor Mullins complimented the juniors and told them how much the fine work they are doing in directing traffic at strategic corners in the school zone is appreciated by the City Council, the Police Department and the citizens of Elba, and promised them full support. City Clerk Kendrick, Chief Parker and Councilman Kendrick emphasized the statements Mayor Mullins had made. Officer Strickland had made. Officer Strickland expressed how proud he is of "my boys." Phil English, who is doing valiant service as a junior policeman, takes pleasure in doing whatever he can to help them along.

Ladies Go Fishing

Mesdames L. P. Mullins, W. R. Crook, J. D. Whitman, T. D. Kendrick, Dick Dorman and Flournoy Whitman left Tuesday morning for Sunnyside Beach where they are enjoying a fishing expedition, with headquarters at the Mullins cottage.

Mrs. Jim Whitman said it was not necessary to take a photograph to furnish conversation, but a loud speaker might be appropriate. Terry Kendrick said he told his wife the ladies were letting down the gas for a large star party, but she said it was worth it to get away from their husbands for a short while. However they didn't want it to be too long.

Lots Of Potatoes

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bean Young and daughter, Miss Young, made a tour of the Irish potato area in Baldwin County Sunday. Mr. Young said he had never seen so many potatoes growing in his life before and they were a beautiful sight. They also went to Mobile and Sam said it looked to him like the quarters they collect from motorists at the tunnel tollgate ought to pay for the project in a week or two.

Collo Dog Ignores Thieves, Stalls Off Law Officers

CHICAGO—Stanley D. Cole thinks maybe he slipped up somewhere in the training of Geronimo, his husky collie.

Cole left the dog in the back seat of his car when he parked in downtown Chicago.

When he returned a few minutes later, his luggage was gone. Geronimo sat placidly in the back seat.

A few hours later, Cole double-parked his car, again only for a few minutes.

When he returned he found three street cars blocked and police trying to get the jam under control. Geronimo, man's valiant servant, was baring his fangs and holding the law at bay.

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT ALABAMA

HELEN KELLER
The name of this great woman is known all over the world. She was born on June 27, 1880, at Tuscumbia, and became blind and deaf at an early age. A Miss Ann Sullivan took charge of the child, and, through patient toil, taught her to understand words spelled out in the palm of her hand. Helen Keller has lectured to untold thousands, and written books, and articles that have been read by millions. She is truly a miracle of the age.

So they let me work on top of the piano, Patsy related. "A big shiny black one. The piano was sitting there beating out a rhythm for me and I started to work."

"Well, by the time I was getting hot, there was four and dough all over their fine piano and that piano looked like he had fallen over a snowdrift. I just don't know my own strength when I start making pizzas in time to music. I didn't get on the show."

MR. FARRIS AND MISS JOHNSON ARE WED IN CANDLELIGHT CEREMONY

The marriage of Miss Math-lynn Johnson and James Farris took place at early twilight on April 8th in the LaFayette Street Methodist church of Dothan.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dove Johnson. Mr. Farris is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Farris. Both the bride and groom are of this vicinity.

The Rev. H. C. Hildreth, an uncle of the bride, and pastor of the LaFayette Street church, performed the double ring ceremony.

Tall baskets of Easter lilies, white snapdragons and stock with banks of fern on either side formed the lower setting for the bride in graduated heights held by in graduated heights held burning white candles glorifying the setting below. The central setting, a lovely white cross, was embellished with Easter lilies. Above the cross an arch of burning white candles held their glow upon an altar setting. A gleaming built in cross completed the lighting for a lovely wedding scene.

A program of nuptial music was rendered by Lois Cherry, violin soloist, and Gene Josals, organist. Numbers used were "Because" an organ solo, and "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" as a violin and organ duet.

While the guests assembled to the soft strains of "Oh Promise Me", Marjorie Ann Hildreth, in lovely pink sheer, and Ronnie Farris, in light blue, lighted the candles. The traditional wedding march was used.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding dress of ivory satin in an off-shoulder pattern, having a yoke of lace outlined in a soft ripple. Sleeves were long and pointed over the wrists. Her veil of illusion was attached to a tulle of orange blossoms. The bridal bouquet was white orchids set upon a white prayer book showed Harold Farris, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man.

For her daughters wedding Mrs. Johnson chose a navy sheer trimmed with pink cutwork and her flowers were pink carnations in corsage bouquet.

After the ceremony the party enjoyed a reception given by Mrs.

C. E. Garrison, an aunt of the groom, at her lovely home in Dothan. The color scheme of green and white was carried out beautifully.

Guests were graciously received at the door by her son, Mr. Ray Henderson. Mrs. Henderson registered the guests as they entered.

The bride's table was covered with a cut work cloth over satin, and was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake.

The cake was embellished in spun sugar roses at intervals on the tiers and topped with a bride and groom in miniature. Silver candelabra held burning white candles on either side of the cake. Crystal bowls holding tossed nuts and various sweets were artistically arranged. Brick ice cream and punch were served.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Farris left for a wedding trip to southern points of interest. For traveling Mrs. Farris wore a suit of grey with navy accessories and a white orchid corsage.

They will be making their home in Elba until some later date.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcom Plant visited relatives in Mobile during the week-end.

Mrs. C. B. McDowell returned home Tuesday night from a two weeks visit with her daughter, Mrs. Howard McCallen, and family, in Monticello, Fla.

Mrs. Olen Warren of Port Arthur, Texas is visiting her mother, Mrs. R. E. Lee, of Elba Rt. 5.

Mike Morrow of the U. S. Army Air Force is spending a thirty day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Morrow.

Mr. Vance Wheeler of Goodwater and Auburn, was a guest of Mrs. Bettie Head Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Matthews and Miss Louise Veltman spent the week-end at their cottage at Port Walton, Fla. Mr. and Mrs. Horton Fick and son, George H. Fick, are at the cottage.

BOOZER LEADING AS RACE
SWINGS INTO STRETCH DRIVEAnniston Candidate's Sound Program
Gaining Thousands Of Votes Daily

As he brought his campaign back stretch drive last week, four impartial polls showed that Elbert Booser, Anniston candidate, was leading the governors race by a comfortable majority.

Drawing by far the largest crowds of any candidate in the race, Booser is making four, five and sometimes as many as six speeches a day with a radio talk thrown in at night for good measure.

Political observers throughout the state say that Booser is the front-runner in the gubernatorial parade because of his sound business platform he has offered the people in every county in Alabama.

In a speech at Huntsville Saturday he pointed to the staggering amount of money received by our state treasury every year. "Last year we poured $213,000,000 into our state treasury," Booser said, "and I don't believe we are getting our money's worth. When I am the governor of Alabama, I guarantee you that you will receive $1 worth of sound government for every dollar you put in the state treasury."

In his latest speeches the Anniston candidate has repeated his strong support of continued educational expansion to keep pace with our ever increasing school population, and a $50 a month old age pension. "We owe a debt to the old people of this country who pioneered in building a nation and we must pay it not only in love and gratitude but by providing the necessities and comfort in their declining years," he said.

Booser also repeated his support of a strong state merit system. He asserted that he favored a merit system with teeth in it and would favor making it a part of our state constitution. "We must also stop the daily slaughter on our highways as governor I will recom-

Here are a few facts about

W. D. (Bill) FRINKS

Candidate for

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

He is thirty years old, born and reared on a farm in St. Clair county.

He served in the army from 1941 to 1943. While serving in the army he received injuries that make it impossible for him to do manual labor.

He is a member of the Presbyterian church, American Legion, and Disabled American Veterans.

Frinks has lived in Birmingham since 1943, been in business for himself.

He owns and operates the Ace Cleaners and Laundry.

Frinks attended Branchville Elementary School, and St. Clair County High School, at Odenville, Alabama.

He is especially in favor of old Age Pension and will work hard to see that this law is passed. If the forty-nine Legislature had represented Alabama and its people properly this law would have been passed then.

Frinks is interested in better schools and better roads, and will try to get more industries to come to Alabama, and give our people more employment.

This is Frinks' first time to seek public office.

Won't you please give him this chance by voting and supporting him, and get your friends to vote for him?

Frinks is just an average citizen and he will work hard for the average citizen.

Frinks says, while traveling over the state of Alabama, he has found the need for the Old Age pension law to be passed. He has found that many of our elderly people are suffering great hardships.

Frinks believes that Alabama needs a Marshall plan as badly as Europe does.

He thinks we should be taking care of our own people before sending aid to other countries.

If you will give Frinks a chance you will never be sorry. You will always be proud to have a man of this type to represent you.

He will be honest and fair to everyone. He will work in harmony with whoever the people elect as our Governor, to bring Alabama a fair administration.

If the time should come Frinks is well qualified to become our Governor.

All you need to do is to ask anyone who knows him.

(Paid Pol. Adv. by St. Clair Farmers Committee for W. D. Frinks)

More Elba Homes Get Fire Protection

The Elba Fire Department, under the direction of Chief Flournoy Whitman, made a test of another addition to the city's rapidly expanding water system Monday afternoon. The Department made a quick run to the recently installed fire hydrant in front of the John Payne home about a quarter mile southwest of the canal bridge.

The test was successful in every way. The gauge showed a natural pressure of seventy pounds per square inch, which is about the average in the city. With the Department's 3,000 ft. of available hose, a wide scope of territory beyond the canal has been brought under fire protection.

Gene Brown Attacked And Bitten By Fox

Mr. Jesse Brown tells of the following experience his sons, Gene and Charles, and Roy Hudson recently had with a wounded fox at the Hudson home near Zion Chapel Schoolhouse.

Mr. Brown said a fox was seen eating a chicken Thursday afternoon near the Hudson home. Mr. Hudson took several shots at it with a rifle but missed. The fox returned that night to the Hudson henhouse and got another chicken and escaped. The fox also came back the next night and when Mr. Hudson, accompanied by Gene and Charles Brown, went to the chickenhouse to investigate, they found the fox devouring another chicken. Several shots with a pistol and rifle were ineffective, but Charles Brown took a shot at close range with a shotgun, blowing off both front legs. In spite of the serious wounds, the fox circled around and ran under the house. A flashlight showed the fox under the house gnawing on a chicken. Gene Brown struck at the fox with an iron bar when it came from under the house and it jumped at him and bit him on the leg. It was thought that the fox was not mad but attacked Mr. Brown on account of being wounded. However, Mr. Brown is taking no chances and is taking rabies shots.

The fox, after biting Mr. Brown, escaped to the highway where it was run over and killed by a passing car.

Moore Tells How

Robert H. Moore has the government race all figured out. He says Phillip Hamm is going to beat Boozier in the run-off, blow out the Spark; ring the Bell; down the Bull; tear down Newton; use Persons where he is; take the Tripp; let Henderson plow old Beck; let the devil take Demont; ignore Dubose, Pettit, Gordon and Stapp; handle the Money and be elected Governor of Alabama by a safe margin.

You know, Mr. Editor, I been thinkin maybe I could pick up a little spare change writin' a column for you every week. With my cotton and peanut allotment, what it is, a little change won't be none in my way. You know I know my mule, Bessie, she gettin' kinda old and ain't as full of pep and vinegar as I used to be, but still, neither one of us as far gone as the government seems to think we are. Why my wife Bessie could hook my hound dog Emanuel to a plow and raise more cotton and peanuts than them fellers got planned for me.

I went to town last Friday and seen Mr. Gordon Persons in his helicopter. That's the out-doinst thing I seen since the invention of the guano knocker. I kinda liked the way Mr. Persons talked, too, but my wife Bessie don't decide we gonna vote for Phillip Hamm.

You know I'm kinda tired of hearing candidates tell of all the things they plan to do and not put on any more taxes. Now I'm in favor of stinkin the government for every dollar we can get. I figure that thing can go only so far. Since the government gets its money from taxes I don't see how its gonna spend more and more without taking a little more in, and that's what I'm again. The government ain't like my old cow, Clairbell. I can milk Clairbell and all I got to do is furnish grass and water and sometimes a little bit of hay. Too bad the government don't run on grass and water and we could milk it too.

One thing I wish you would tell me Mr. Editor, is what happens if I don't can't tell you the way the court square. It ain't that I don't appreciate the extra parking space. In fact it is very handy, but I can't tell you the way the court square. Speaking of scenery, I guess you know that spring has sprung and the ladies are taking to stunts and stunts again.
